

CAPITAL ACCESS FUND OF CLEVELAND

Learning to Grow, Inc. Owner: Shonetta Hill

Helping Minority Business Gain Access to Capital

The Capital Access Fund of Greater Cleveland (CAFGC) is a unique collaboration between the National Development Council, National Urban League’s Urban Empowerment Fund (NUL-UEF), Urban League of Greater Cleveland, Morgan Stanley and other government and philanthropic partners whose mission is help increase access to capital to minority businesses. As a lender focused on creating jobs and wealth among minority communities, the program seeks to provide minority business owners with the support and capital they need to sustain and grow their business.

We create and implement economic and community development strategies that increase the flow of capital to urban and rural communities, establish finance programs, and help to create a professional and economic community development workforce through our nationally recognized training program. NDC acts as a teacher, advisor, investor, developer and lender all in one, working tirelessly to increase the flow of investment capital, spur job creation and bring community development to America's economically challenged areas.
